ABOUT EASTERN KARBI ANGLONG COLLEGE

Eastern Karbi Anglong College, established by the local doyens of the region in 1997, is situated at Talbalijan under the Bokajan block of Karbi Anglong district of Assam and is located at a distance of 7 k.m. from Bokajan town. It is a premier institute of higher education offering both Arts and Science streams. Since its inception, the college has been serving enormously in transforming the higher education scenario of the entire locality through dissemination of quality education. The college is affiliated to Assam University, Silchar, Assam and is included under section 2(f) and 12(b) of the UGC Act. The college has been accredited by NAAC with B+ Grade in its 1st cycle of assessment in 2022.

The college is well equipped with proficient teaching faculties, library and an up-to-date laboratories. EKAC family consists of 59 members (both teaching & non-teaching) in its 12 academic departments. The library of the college has around 7000 books besides multifarious journals, magazines, newspapers including a remarkable access to different e-resources. The college has also a study center of Krishna Kanta Handique State Open University offering B. A., M. A. and D. El. Ed. Courses.

ABOUT ABILAC

Anundoram Boroah Institute of Language, Art & Culture, Assam (ABILAC) was established by the Govt. of Assam in 1989 as an autonomous institute for working in the fields of Language, Art & Culture. The Institute is recognized by both Dibrugarh University & Gauhati University as a Research Institute. The headquarter of ABILAC is located at Rajaduar, North Guwahati. The Institute has four Departments namely-(1) Language & Linguistics, (2) Literature & Translation, (3) Folklore & Oral Traditions and (4) Culture, Art & Music and a Sanskrit Studies Cell. The Institute has been working on a few major as well as minor research projects. It has taken keen interest in preparation of dictionaries on various indigenous languages of Northeast India. The Institute has taken up work of writing history of Assamese literature in six volumes, three of which have already been published. The Institute has till now published 45 books on various fields of its interest. One of the remarkable activity of the institute is the Anundoram Boroah award given to a scholar of repute every year for promotion and recognition of scholarship in the fields of indological studies, literary and linguistic studies, sanskrit studies and studies in art and culture.

ABOUT THE SEMINAR

The world has witnessed an unprecedented wave of development in almost all spheres; but simultaneously, it also raises a very pertinent question: has this development reached every nook and cranny of the globe equally? And, in the context of this eye-popping development, the term 'inclusive' development has been emerged as the most significant strategy as it can only strike a balance between economic prosperity and ecological degradation. Development and social security must go hand in glove but of late, it is seen that the much touted economic development precipitated by liberalization has not touched everyone evenly and thereby, creating social injustice and economic disparity. In order to get rid of the scourge of poverty and other social afflictions emanating from the lopsided economic development, inclusive development is the only panacea as it aims at equal development. Proper and adequate utilization of limited resources is a prerequisite to sustainable growth as rampant use of the available resources would put the future generations high and dry. Cascading effects of slanted economic growth have become apparent in different segments of social life and it has given rise to dissatisfaction amongst the underprivileged classes. To bridge the gap between various socio-economic classes arising from the unprecedented economic growth, policies for self-reliance, skill and inclusive development are the only solutions as it will ensure the Atmanirbhar Bharat.

HOW TO REACH THE COLLEGE

The college is approachable by all weather roads from Golaghat and Diphu. Besides, it is approachable from Bokajan railway station (7 k.m.) and Dimapur Airport (32k.m.)
